The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, John C. Holstein, escorted the Chief Justice to the dais where he delivered the State of the Judiciary Address to the Joint Assembly:

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY ADDRESS

John C. Holstein, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Missouri

January 11, 1996

Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly, colleagues, and fellow Missourians:

It is a great honor to be the twelfth chief justice since the tradition began in 1974 to be invited to speak to the General Assembly. Both you and I, as public servants, are privileged to stand here today on the broad shoulders of earlier chief justices, senators, representatives, and members of the executive branch. Their foresight in designing and implementing our state system of justice reflects immense wisdom. They were progressive when progress was called for. They exercised restraint when restraint was appropriate.

In recent years the General Assembly has upheld that great tradition. You have continued to provide the tools necessary to make the delivery of justice to Missouri citizens better, faster and more efficient than ever before. The backlogs and delays that exist in other states do not exist in Missouri. The General Assembly has been most helpful in two particular areas. First, in order to meet the challenge presented by an unprecedented growth rate in caseloads, prior chief justices have come to the legislature to seek funding for judicial transfer programs, and for the broader use of our senior judges. The General Assembly and the Governor have responded favorably to those requests in the past. As a result, tens of thousands of cases have been disposed of by judges on transfer and by senior judges. We are grateful to the other two branches of government for assisting the courts. All Missourians should be enormously grateful to the senior judges and to the judges who have been transferred, often at considerable inconvenience and, in the case of senior judges, without receiving full compensation. Last year alone, the number of days our senior judges worked were equivalent to more than 10 full-time sitting judges.

The second area in which the General Assembly in recent years has been most helpful is in providing the courts with ability to automate. Beginning in 1994, the legislature provided for a funding mechanism to develop a statewide computerized court system. The General Assembly has challenged us to create a court system that is more accessible and more effective than ever before.

Meetings are being held around the state with those who will use electronic courts -- appellate judges, trial judges, clerks, attorneys, and state agencies, who routinely need access to court information. We are now beginning to see the first fruit of the court automation project. Through arrangements made with the Court Automation Committee, Missouri statutes and Missouri cases going back to 1950 are now available on compact disk to all trial judges in the state who want them. We hope to put more of our Supreme Court publications, Approved Instructions and judicial bench books on computer disk in the near future. A judge traveling a circuit may carry a complete Missouri law library in a briefcase. In the future, we may be able to have such a library on line. Plans are being made for the Missouri Bar and the Missouri State Courts Administrator to have a home page on the internet so that lawyers and citizens alike may access information about the courts. Lawyers will be able to register for continuing legal education programs, and information regarding selecting a lawyer, small claims court, or recent court decisions may be located by citizens.

A more important and certainly the more costly aspect of the project is the contract entered into this fall to design an architecture which will provide a statewide judicial information system that will take us well into the next century. Ultimately, that system will allow us the option of electronic filings of pleadings, giving of notices, and archiving of court records for retrieval on a 24-hour-a-day basis. Video conferencing will be included in the plan so that some court proceedings may be conducted from remote locations. The contract will give us an architecture for a computer system which will not become obsolete before the system is completed.

As originally conceived, our court automation project required ten years of funding. As you know, the court automation bill as it finally passed only provided for five years of funding. I again commend to you the need to consider extending that funding for the five additional years necessary to complete the project.

As we enter into court automation, we are making every effort not to computerize merely for the sake of computerization. Now is the time to eliminate bad practices and procedure. Every aspect of our judicial process must be open to thorough examination.

The story is told about a young wife who baked a ham every Sunday. Every Sunday she cut the ends of the ham off before she baked it. After watching her do this for a few weeks, her young husband asked her why she did it. She said, "I do it because my mother did it." She then called her mother and asked her why she cut the ends off the ham. Her mother said, "My mother did it." So grandma was called. She asked grandma why she cut the ends off the ham. Grandma replied, "Simple. My pan was too small."

We are trying to be careful as we computerize not to perpetuate a senseless practice merely because "that's how grandma did it." We should not become so steeped in tradition that we are incapable of change.

To obtain the full benefit of computerization will undoubtedly require some statutory changes. We will be coming to you to assist us in making the necessary changes so that we do not continue to cut the ends off the ham.

This brings me to legislation which we are going to ask you to consider and, hopefully, pass during this session of the legislature. It has to do with our present system of court costs. As most of you are aware, that system is extremely complex. Court costs have been used and, in the view of some, overused as a revenue enhancement device. Court costs and fees have historically been a method for offsetting some of the public cost of operating the court system from the users of that system. To ask those who most directly benefit from operation of the court to share in the costs of its operation is not inherently wrong.

At the same time, for the court to fulfill its role and to provide citizens their constitutional rights to due process, access must not be prevented or unduly restricted by the amount of court costs or by the proliferation of costs unrelated to court operations that are charged. The costs for filing circuit civil cases has risen from $60 in 1982 to over $100 in 1995. These costs, surcharges and fees may occur within the case due to service of process, payment of jury fees, copying fees, court reporter transcript fees, etc. These must be sorted out and billed by the clerks of the court. Then the costs must be distributed to the proper agency. Each of you have been provided with a diagram of our court costs system. Larger versions of that same diagram have been set up in the front of each of the two galleries.

The diagram graphically illustrates the present system and why court costs are a prime target for reengineering as we enter the electronic age. The current court costs system is scattered through more than seventy sections of the statutes, beginning in chapter 14 and concluding in chapter 595 of the Revised Statutes. Under the current billing system, the billing may be quite late. It is not at all unusual that the responsible party is dead or that an attorney has lost contact with his or her client who is the responsible party. The billing system is unnecessarily complex. In one associate circuit court, I was shown a receipt form that was more than eighteen inches wide merely so that it could have a box to be filled in for each of the separate court costs involved.

Auditing is quite difficult. There is no system of immediate electronic audit that follows a case from filing through the judge's entry of orders, including assessment of fines and costs, and on to the clerk, who collects the costs, and then to the state or county agencies that receive the funds. Much of this is done manually. Naturally, it must await a manual audit. As you know, those audits often occur only every two or three years.

The final problem and, perhaps, the most important problem, is the public's perception that costs are too high and too complicated. We have regularly heard complaints from people that costs and fines in one county are significantly different for the same type case a few counties away.

Here are the basic solutions which the legislation proposes:

First, to the maximum extent possible, all court costs should be placed in one chapter. In that chapter should be found not only provisions for the amount but the procedures for collection and distribution of the funds. By doing that, it is less likely that some fee or cost required to be collected by law will be missed or will not reach the proper account. In addition, terminology used in all statutes relating to various costs, fees and surcharges will be defined and made uniform.

Second, to the maximum extent possible, funds will be distributed more rapidly to the appropriate state and local government agencies. Provision should be made for electronic transfers of funds to the appropriate agencies at the state and county level.

Third, we hope to provide courts with the same flexibility accorded executive agencies for establishing charges that are directly related to the costs of services provided, such as mileage, copying papers, jury fees, and the like. To the maximum extent possible, these fees should be uniform. Costs charged in one type case in St. Charles County should not vary significantly from costs charged for the same type case in Clay County. Just like executive fees, these charges should always be subject to legislative review but, like executive agencies, the Supreme Court should have the ability to adopt uniform rules regarding the amount of costs which should properly be recovered from the parties.

Fourth, as part of court automation, a clear trail of what money is collected and where it goes that is capable of electronic audit must be established. If all the fines and costs in a particular case are not collected, that case should be flagged immediately in the system so that at least two people, perhaps the judge who assessed the fine and costs, and clerk responsible for collecting them, will be aware of the shortfall. Court automation, coupled with simplification in court costs in a unified code using uniform terminology and uniform fee schedules, should result in accurate and timely billing, collection and disbursement of court costs.

There may be some immediate costs related to this legislation. I would hope that in the long term, collections would in fact be enhanced. As you can guess from the diagram, there may be some holes in the bucket. If we can make court costs simpler, uniform, understandable and efficient, that will be a major step in earning the confidence of the people we all serve.

I wish I could say that legislation to simplify and clarify court costs is simple and clear. As you can see from the diagram, you are being asked to untie a gordian knot of court costs that has developed over many, many years and to do so without reducing revenues. As we undertake this task, I am reminded that sometimes the hardest things we do can be the most rewarding.

Returning for a moment to the subject of court automation, I wish to point out we have placed a high priority on the planning phase of court automation. We have demanded from our consultants an organized, well thought out approach to automation which sidesteps waste and false starts made by other states who fell into the temptation of quick solutions and wholesale purchases of hardware and off-the-shelf software. As we bring forward the plan, and as you see the complexity of what is required to create the statewide system that is envisioned, we hope that the system will earn your trust, confidence and support.

In this regard, we are hopeful that you will ask questions and closely follow the court automation project as well as our efforts to simplify, clarify and make more efficient the billing, collection and distribution of court costs.

There are other less costly but nonetheless important matters that we have placed before the legislature this year for consideration. One such matter is court security. I would not want to see our courthouses turned into fortresses. But insuring the safety of court staff, lawyers and litigants is essential. Court security in our circuit courts around the state is largely the responsibility of county government. Most county governments have taken that responsibility quite seriously, particularly in view of the events that occurred in Oklahoma City last year. Currently, our Supreme Court security staff is very small. Security equipment that is standard in most urban courthouses, most federal courthouses and some of the courts of appeals is not available for the Supreme Court. A committee appointed last year by the Supreme Court is working on overall recommendations for court security in the state. One of their immediate recommendations is that we strengthen the security of our own building across the street. While we have been fortunate to not have any serious incidents, we would not want to wait until something actually occurs to take action.

The Governor's Commission on the Judiciary recently made nineteen specific recommendations regarding the judicial system. While neither the Judicial Conference nor the Supreme Court has taken a position on the recommendations, I can assure you that members of the judiciary have closely observed the Governor's Commission in its deliberations. The Commission's report is thoughtful and thorough. I commend them for their work. I commend their report to you for your careful consideration. If we in the judiciary can be of any assistance to you, we will gladly make ourselves available for discussing specific topics included in the Commission's report and how those topics will affect court operations.

As previously noted, daunting caseloads are facing the courts in Missouri. In the last ten years, excluding traffic and municipal cases, the overall caseload has grown 25%. In two specific areas, domestic relations and felonies, the growth rate has been even more startling. In domestic relations, the annual number of cases filed has increased 59%. Seventy-four percent more felony cases were filed in 1995 than in 1985.

One way the trial judges have met the challenge is by moving cases faster. The Supreme Court has established case disposition guidelines. Basically, those guidelines provide a framework within which trial judges can measure whether the cases are moving through a particular judge's court within a reasonable time. By proper use of the guidelines, judges are in a better position to track their own efficiency. However, I have always been cautious to remind everyone that the quality of justice cannot be measured by how fast we dispose of cases. Every case and every court's docket is unique. Every case involves the life, liberty or property of some real person. The delivery of quality justice remains the primary focus of our work.

Educational programs have assisted in handling caseloads. In the early 1980's, a program was established to ensure that Missouri's trial judges had an opportunity at least once annually to receive an update on changes in the statutes, new case law, and the most current information regarding procedures. This year, for the first time, we are asking for a significant increase in our training budget to provide regional in-service training programs for the clerical staff. Just as it is important that judges keep up to date on new law and innovations in court administration, it is also critical that our clerks be given similar opportunities for continuing education, particularly in view of constantly increasing caseloads. Included in our budget for this year is additional funding to provide training to the clerks of our courts in various locations in the state. We are seeking approval of that important program.

It would be wrong for me to leave you with the impression that transfer programs, continuing education programs, and case disposition guidelines imposed by the Supreme Court were entirely responsible for this state's ability to deal with what appears to be an overwhelming caseload. In point of fact, our trial judges and court clerks simply work harder, longer, and smarter than before. That has given us the ability to meet the challenge of the last ten years. Excluding traffic cases, on average, every judge in Missouri today must dispose of 250 more cases per year than a judge did ten years ago. Ten years ago, the clerks of our state courts were handling $93 million in child support collections. This past year, those collections had rocketed to over $300 million. We should all take great pride in what our trial judges and court clerks have accomplished.

The one fact that remains clear is that this growth pattern in caseloads is almost certain to continue into the future. As we face new challenges, there will be an ever greater necessity to give trial courts and clerks the additional tools necessary to help meet the growing demand for services.

At the beginning of my comments, I spoke of the great debt we owe to the members of the General Assembly who, over the course of many years, designed our system of justice. One significant piece of legislation was Missouri's civil code which became effective ten days before I was born. The civil code formed the basis for the Missouri Supreme Court Rules. The Code contained a remarkably simple phrase that established the vision for the Missouri justice system. The statute said that all the laws relating to practices of the courts should be "construed to secure a just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action." Those same words were incorporated into Missouri's Supreme Court rules in 1972. I look forward to working with you as we continue to make a just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every case a reality for the citizens of Missouri.

On motion of Senator Banks, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Wiggins.

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, Governor Mel Carnahan, escorted the Governor to the dais where he delivered the State of the State Address to the Joint Assembly:

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tem, distinguished state officials, members of the 88th General Assembly, and citizens of Missouri:

I appreciate the opportunity to appear before you today.

One of the greatest rewards of being governor is meeting so many remarkable people who share their dreams with you.

As you know, I particularly enjoy meeting young people because of their boundless energy and enthusiasm, and their refreshing views on life.

Last June, I received a very special letter from one young person inviting me to "do" lunch.

I say this invitation was very special because this wasn't just any lunch.

This was a lunch to celebrate Kendra Davis's tenth birthday, and Kendra -- who lives in Osage Beach -- wanted to have lunch with me in my office.

She even wrote that if I agreed, then I would be "extra excellent."

How could I refuse her request ... and this chance to be "extra excellent?"

So Kendra and I had her birthday celebration in my office.

We had chicken fingers, soda, and, of course, a chocolate cake with candles.

I had looked forward to visiting with Kendra and expected a conversation about school, her friends, and maybe her favorite games or television shows.

Well, I was certainly mistaken.

Kendra opened the conversation by asking me my views on Bosnia and smoking.

We discussed the quality of education, the future of our state and nation, and even the quality of our roads.

At ten years of age, Kendra Davis was already focused on the future...not just her future, but our future.

She believes that she can make a difference in this world, and she is expecting us to make a difference as well.

Kendra and her family are here today, sitting with my wife Jean.

I asked her to come, because -- at least to me -- she serves as a wonderful reminder of the most important reason we are here: to make Missouri a safer and better place for our most precious resource--our children and grandchildren...the youngest citizens of Missouri.

You can bet she's going to hold us accountable.

Kendra's counting on us...to do the right thing for Missouri.

And so are all the other young people of our state.

They are watching to make sure we do what we were sent here to accomplish... to keep Missourians safe from crime, to make sure our schools offer a quality education, and to make certain there are enough good jobs to provide our families with a reasonable level of financial security.

So let us take this opportunity to review how far we have come and where we need to go.

Many good things are happening in Missouri, but there are also some areas where we still have improvements to make.

CRIME

Probably the most serious threat to providing the quality of life we want for all Missourians is violent crime.

Our homes, our neighborhoods, our businesses, and our schools will never breathe freely as long as they are constricted by fear.

As long as I am governor, we will not be content until our students can go to school unafraid.

We will not rest until our children can play in their neighborhoods without the threat of violence.

And we will not stop until our citizens can live and work without fear.

Over the past three years, we have passed some of the toughest anti-crime laws in the country.

We passed one of the nation's toughest "truth in sentencing" laws.

Now, dangerous and violent criminals must serve at least 85 percent of their sentences behind bars--far more than they were serving before this change.

I don't know if you noticed, but a story ran in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch several weeks ago about a man named Edward Post who killed his wife in 1986 and finally pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

The story went on to say that Post will be eligible for parole in 1999, after serving just ten years of a 30 year sentence.

I---along with many other Missourians--was outraged.

Ten years for someone who murdered his wife is not enough.

And serving just one-third of his sentence for murder does not serve the interests of justice.

But since Post committed his crime in 1986, his case fell under the old law which allowed such lenient treatment for murder.

This injustice won't happen again under our new sentencing law.

If Post had committed his crime today and received a 30 year sentence, he would not be eligible for parole under any circumstances until he had at least served 25 years and six months of his 30 year sentence behind bars.

Ten years is definitely too short a sentence -- 25 years before parole can even be considered is a step in the right direction.

To combat the increasing occurrence of juvenile violence, we have overhauled our juvenile crime law to hold these young offenders accountable for their actions.

Dangerous juveniles no longer have a "Get Out Of Jail Free" card in Missouri when they turn 18.

Now the most dangerous and violent juvenile offenders can be tried as adults and sent to prison (even for life, if that's appropriate) instead of being returned to the streets where they can strike again.

We have expanded the number of law enforcement officers on duty and given them the newest and most sophisticated tools to bring criminals to justice.

We've given prosecutors tough new tools to get convictions against child molesters and rapists.

We have increased the number of prison cells to ensure that violent criminals serve their time.

And we have set things straight on how criminals will spend their time in prison.

Under our new laws, all inmates must work, get a basic education, and get treatment.

We're not going to let them sit idly in their cells.

They're going to use their time working and developing job skills.

These changes are real, and they're needed.

But the war against crime continues to rage on, and so this year I am proposing an arsenal of new weapons against violent crime.

Regrettably, one of the battle zones in this war is our schools.

Too many classrooms are caught in the crossfire.

We can't expect our students and our teachers to be able to focus fully on reading, or writing, or math, when, by necessity, their greatest concern must be on protecting themselves against the possibility of violence.

Too many of our students and teachers must step into a combat zone of guns, gangs, and drugs whenever they enter the classroom.

We're not going to tolerate violent and disruptive students -- period.

The Safe Schools initiative I have recently announced will give our schools the force of law and the resources they need to make our schools safer for students who are serious about getting an education.

Among these important changes, we will guarantee schools the access to juvenile records of students who have broken the law.

We will require that disciplinary records for violent students follow them if they change schools.

And my plan also includes helping school districts establish alternative schools for violent, abusive, and disruptive students.

These alternative schools will make our regular classrooms a safer and better learning environment.

And it also ensures that these troubled youth will get the help they need.

This alternative education will provide these dangerous and abusive young people with the educational, social, and behavioral skills necessary to turn their lives around.

An even more deplorable situation than being threatened at school is being threatened at home.

Countless cases of domestic violence against spouses and children go unreported each year because the victims believe they have no place to go and no one to turn to.

This year, I am calling for increased support for domestic violence shelters and other help for domestic violence victims.

These victims need our help to escape from this horrible abuse.

And I am proposing tough new sentencing and lifetime supervision requirements for sexual predators, who rob their victims of their self respect.

My proposal eliminates the possibility of probation for dangerous sexual offenders.

And it requires that, if and when a sexual predator does get out of prison, he will be kept under supervision for the rest of his life.

This will allow us to return him to prison at any time if he commits another crime or violates the conditions of his release.

In addition, I am proposing legislation that will allow judges and juries to give life imprisonment to those convicted of child abuse when the result of that abuse is the death of the child.

Missouri is drawing the line on violent crime, and the message from this building today is that anyone who dares to cross that line better be prepared to pay and pay dearly.

CHILD HEALTH CARE

Another challenge before us is to improve our children's health.

Despite recent efforts, Missouri ranks 49th in the nation in childhood immunization rates.

This is not acceptable.

Immunizations are the most powerful and cost-effective way to prevent nine infectious diseases in children, including polio and measles.

Not only do children and their families benefit from these voluntary immunizations, everyone benefits by avoiding the cost of treating these preventable diseases.

Our failure to achieve adequate immunization rates is not simply an embarrassment for Missouri; it jeopardizes the health and lives of our children.

To address this critical problem, I am directing the Missouri Department of Health to implement a plan that will make it easier for all families to have their children immunized.

The plan sets a goal of having 90% of the two-year-olds in Missouri fully immunized by September 1997.

To reach this goal, I am calling for legislation that will allow parents to authorize grandparents, adult siblings, or other designated individuals to take children to be vaccinated.

And I am calling for legislation requiring that all health insurance plans that provide coverage to children include childhood immunizations without requiring the family to pay deductibles or co-payments.

Quite simply, good preventive health care makes good sense, and voluntary immunizations are an integral part of that good, preventive treatment.

Another highly effective way to help safeguard the health of our children is to expand the availability of school nurses.

My budget proposal increases grants to local schools for basic health services and screenings.

With the addition of these grants and other related state initiatives, every school district will be able to have a school nurse or other necessary health services for its students.

HELPING CHILDREN

The school nurse program and childhood immunizations are just two examples of the ways our children are counting on us to help them get off to a good start, particularly in the areas of health, mental health, and protection from abuse.

This budget accepts that challenge by providing help for some of the state's most vulnerable children.

This budget provides funds for more foster care placements for abused and neglected children.

It expands the number of child advocacy centers that serve as safe havens and assessment centers for abused children, establishing new centers in Springfield, Columbia, and Southeast Missouri.

And it provides additional residential placements for severely disturbed children and respite support for families shouldering the care of mentally ill children.

EDUCATION

And now, I would like to turn to a subject that is a recurring theme in my administration -- the education of our young people.

Our young people are counting on us to provide them with a quality education.

Together, we have laid the foundation for schools that will prepare our students for the next century.

With the education reforms we initiated three years ago, we are doing a better job of giving students the education and training they need to be ready to compete in the 21st century.

As you travel around Missouri, you can already see tangible improvements in our classrooms -- smaller class sizes for our first, second, and third graders; more computers; and up-to-date vocational education.

Through increased funding of our Parents As Teachers Program, early childhood education is now available to over 160,000 Missouri families.

This year we will achieve full funding of the new, more equitable school foundation formula.

The dollars needed to reach full funding are made possible in part by the savings we achieved in the Kansas City desegregation case -- the first reduction in the on-going costs of desegregation in Missouri history.

For the first time, desegregation savings are being deposited into the school foundation formula and distributed to schools all across Missouri.

Our young people need to be ready for the new information economy of the next century.

This year, I am proposing another initiative to help our schools use the latest technology to improve learning.

My budget includes a $20 million investment to help schools acquire computers and new information technologies.

Schools will be able to link up to the information superhighway and enhance interactive instruction.

These funds will be available on a matching basis to help accelerate the placement of computer technology in our schools.

Let's face it, if our children do not leave school computer literate, then their opportunities for good jobs and good careers in the years ahead will be greatly diminished.

HIGHER EDUCATION

We must not underestimate the importance of higher education to our economic growth.

The need for higher education has increased dramatically as the economy switches from an industrial base to an information base.

My budget provides a sizable investment to ensure our colleges and universities graduate well-prepared students who will be successful in the global economy.

It gives increased support to Missouri's community colleges which are providing education and customized training.

Community colleges give our students the skills necessary for high paying jobs or the coursework credits to transfer to four-year institutions.

And my budget provides increases in on-going support for our public four-year colleges and universities, and added one-time dollars for significant capital improvements.

In addition to their immediate contributions to Missouri's work force and economy, our universities are important research institutions.

I am recommending additional one-time state funds to be matched with private and University of Missouri funds for the University's Endowed Chairs program.

Since we began this partnership with the University, 16 professorships and seven endowed chairs have been established.

These endowed chairs help Missouri recruit outstanding researchers and scholars to our campuses.

Finally, my higher education budget includes a fifteen percent increase in the Missouri Student Grant program and increases in other student financial aid programs.

We want to help Missouri families and students realize the dream, and the necessity, of gaining a higher education.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Our young people are certainly the hope of tomorrow, and we must help them get off to a good start.

But we also must not neglect those who have worked to make this state the great place we enjoy today.

I strongly believe the federal government must balance its budget.

But I am troubled by some of the proposals I have heard coming out of Washington, especially those which adversely affect our senior citizens.

In Missouri, we must remain committed to helping our senior citizens live with dignity.

This year, I am proposing an initiative designed to help Missouri's seniors remain healthy and independent.

First, I am renewing my call for a tax cut for families which shoulder the cost of caring for an elderly parent.

Specifically, I propose increasing the exemption for dependents over the age of 65 from $400 to $2,000.

This is modest tax relief, but those caring for elderly parents need it and deserve it.

Secondly, I am proposing to expand proven, cost-effective services that help senior citizens remain in their homes and communities instead of having to move to more costly nursing homes.

These include:

---training and respite services for family members and others who provide care to seniors;

---crisis prevention services that help seniors avoid the necessity of entering a nursing home due to unforeseen, one-time circumstances;

---and meals on wheels, which has permitted so many senior citizens to continue living independently in their homes.

This new assistance for Missouri's senior citizens is not just good for seniors; it makes good economic sense for Missouri taxpayers as well.

Our seniors have given each of us -- individually and as a society -- more than we can ever repay.

So, as Washington considers what its commitment to the elderly will be, I want them to know that Missouri's commitment will remain strong.

STRONG ECONOMY

Our commitment to jobs and economic growth must also remain strong.

When I first assumed office, our economy was not living up to its expectations.

Today, we are outpacing the nation.

In the past year alone, the number of jobs in Missouri has grown 4.6 percent --compared to just 1.4 percent for the nation.

And, over 230 companies either located or expanded operations here last year alone, pumping more than one billion dollars in new investments into our state.

Overall, we gained about 112,000 new jobs during our last budget year.

As a result, Missouri's current unemployment rate is lower today than at any time during the past twenty years.

It stands at just 3.2 percent -- much lower than the national rate.

And growth in personal income for Missourians is far surpassing the nation.

It seems clear that Missouri has indeed become a good place to do business and a good place to earn a living.

While this is good news for most of us, we must remember there are still Missourians out there who can't find work.

We must continue this progress, create more good jobs, and invest in training so that everyone who wants to work can find a job in Missouri.

If our strong economy is to continue, we must pay particular attention to our transportation needs.

After all, Missouri lies at the heart of this nation's commerce.

Our road, port, airport, rail, urban, and rural transit systems are vital parts of our commerce and every day life.

We are already a huge exporter and the starting point for billions of dollars in international trade.

Our favorable geographic location gives us a tremendous economic edge.

We have a good start on placing each piece of the transportation puzzle together.

But it is essential that we develop an effective, well-planned strategy to make the most of our transportation resources, ensure that they are coordinated, and identify any improvements that need to be made.

That is why I will be appointing a special Total Transportation Commission with representation from across the state.

This commission will evaluate our transportation needs and examine how our sources of transportation should be integrated as well as how our transportation financial resources should be distributed over the next decade.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY AND TAX CUTS

One reason for our economic success has been our tradition of fiscal responsibility.

This year, we should be proud that Financial World, one of the nation's most-respected business publications, ranked Missouri as the third best managed state in the nation.

Financial World cited our "excellent long-range planning," our "conservative accounting and budgeting," and our "results-oriented approach" as reasons for awarding Missouri this honor.

The publication also praised our innovative budget process, which demands that each year, we go back and review previous spending to determine which programs work and which should be cut.

This year, after extensive and painstaking review, I am calling for cuts totaling over 60 million dollars.

Since becoming governor in 1993, I have proposed cutting over 275 million dollars in unnecessary spending and have redirected those funds toward high priority areas such as education and fighting crime.

And for the second year in a row, my budget includes a reduction in the total number of state employees.

This reduction is made possible by increasing productivity through investments in technology and by privatizing some government functions.

Financial World is right.

When it comes to fiscal responsibility, Missouri is among the nation's leaders.

We have very low debt -- and we will pay off some of the debt we do have with this budget.

We have a Triple-A bond rating from all three major rating agencies.

We have lower state taxes than at least 44 other states.

And now, we are preparing to give Missourians a much greater voice in future tax decisions.

With your approval, I have put on the ballot this coming April, the tax limitation amendment proposed jointly by my office and the Missouri Farm Bureau.

Our proposed amendment will keep taxes down by requiring that all major tax increases be submitted to a vote of the people.

I encourage you once more to actively support this simple and common-sense tax limitation plan.

It will give Missourians the final say on all major tax decisions.

When you combine the strength of Missouri's economy, our dedication to fiscal responsibility, and our commitment to innovation, we get a recipe for some powerful results.

For example, over the past three years, we have concentrated a great deal of effort on reforming welfare in Missouri.

We've overhauled the program and made innovative changes to help welfare recipients get off welfare, move into private sector jobs, and become self-sufficient.

As a result of our welfare reform initiatives and our strong economy, the number of people on AFDC, the state's major welfare program, has declined by about 26,000 over the past two years.

This is real reform and real progress which will pay long-term dividends for Missouri families and taxpayers.

And now, our recipe for success is making it possible for us to cut taxes.

I am proposing a permanent quarter-cent cut in Missouri's sales tax -- the first sales tax cut in the history of the state.

In addition to this sales tax cut, there will also be a tax refund for 1996.

This is over and above the tax refund I announced in 1995.

The combination of Missouri's strong economic growth and our commitment to fiscal responsibility make these tax cuts affordable, and in fact, necessary to meet our responsibilities under Missouri's revenue limit.

PAY PLAN

To deliver high quality services to taxpayers, the state must be able to compete for qualified and efficient employees.

However, state employee salaries have not kept pace with inflation and remain on the average 20 percent below market rates for comparable jobs.

This wide disparity between our pay scale and the private sector pay scale continues to make it difficult for our state to recruit and retain qualified employees in many job classes.

To help remedy this problem and assist state employees in keeping up with inflation, I am proposing a salary increase of two percent for state employees plus marketplace salary increases for successful employees as recommended by the Commission on Management and Productivity.

Under my proposal, state employees will receive an average increase of 5.8 percent.

FEDERAL BUDGET CUT PREPARATION

As we all know, the best laid plans may be affected by decisions made a thousand miles away in Washington.

No state in the Union will be able to address all the unmet needs, if the more radical Congressional budget plans are implemented over the next months and years.

We continue to wait for Washington to make decisions which will have a great impact here in Missouri.

We do not know the outcome of those decisions yet, but there are some prudent steps which we can and must take to prepare for the dramatic changes in federal fiscal policy that may soon unfold.

To help us meet the challenges ahead, I will appoint a commission to help us assess the effect of these impending changes.

This commission will obtain vital input from our local communities, citizens, and Missouri businesses.

It will develop policy options and make recommendations to us about how state government can best restructure to meet the challenges and take advantage of any opportunities coming from Washington.

Second, we will build a substantial reserve in the rainy day fund.

My recommendations include increasing this fund to 115 million dollars, or about two and one-half percent of general revenue collections.

The rainy day fund will give us the flexibility to deal effectively with the economic effects of federal policy changes.

Third, I propose increasing the reserve funds we count on to deal with emergencies, federal contingencies, and economic downturns.

Next, we must continue to keep Missouri a low debt state.

This year, we will use significant one-time resources to retire high-interest state debt.

This action will save Missouri taxpayers tens of millions in long-term interest costs.

All of these steps are essential if we are to be ready for the changes that are coming from Washington.

I'd like to point out that Washington could learn a lesson from the Missouri General Assembly in responsible budgeting.

Under the capable leadership of Senator Lybyer and Representative Lumpe, you pass responsible balanced budgets, and you pass them on time.

CONCLUSION

I know I have placed a lot on your plate.

But working together we have been able to accomplish a lot during the past three years -- and we can do it again.

I also know that each of you in this body -- Democrat and Republican, rural and urban, young and old--share a common goal, if not always a common path.

That goal is our state motto --"Let the welfare of the people be the supreme law."

This is the cause that bonds us together, and the one that I hope will direct our course during the months ahead.

Missouri has energy, talent, and an innovative spirit that we haven't even begun to tap.

Let's use them now to build a Missouri legacy that Kendra Davis and all the other children of this state will be proud to inherit.

Kendra, I promise you we will do our best to live up to your expectations.

We want Missouri to continue to be a state where you, like thousands of other young Missourians, can stay healthy, get a good education, find a good job, and some day, if you choose, raise a family of your own.

On motion of Senator Banks, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Wiggins.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Mathewson offered the following concurrent resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 19

WHEREAS, a one-page memo that Secretary of the Navy John Dalton signed January 12, 1995, clears the way for inactive Naval vessels to be scrapped or turned into museums; and

WHEREAS, the historic Battleship U.S.S. Missouri (BB-63) has been stricken from the Navy's rolls owing to the financial costs that would be incurred in maintaining the vessel as part of our national defense force; and

WHEREAS, the U.S.S. Missouri is best remembered within the annals of our nation's proud military tradition as the site of the formal surrender of Japan on September 2, 1945, an event which brought to an end the greatest global conflict in history; and

WHEREAS, the U.S.S. Missouri is currently located at mooring "G" at the Naval Inactive Ships Maintenance Facility located in Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Washington; and

WHEREAS, special commemoration ceremonies were conducted aboard the U.S.S. Missouri on September 2, 1995, marking the Fiftieth Anniversary of VJ-Day, and two days later, the ship was closed to visitors; and

WHEREAS, several ideas have been put forth as to the final resting place for this gallant Lady of the United States Navy by a number of interested parties, who have firmly determined that this historic vessel should not be scrapped, but rather, be preserved for the education and enrichment of future generations; and

WHEREAS, though the state of Missouri would be proud to preserve the U.S.S. Missouri within its boundaries, the fact is that the guaranteed depth of water on the Mississippi River Channel is much too shallow to allow the ship to reach St. Louis or any other port in Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the U.S.S. Missouri (BB-63) Memorial Association, Inc., of Honolulu, Hawaii, has expressed an interest in obtaining the Missouri and placing her on display in Pearl Harbor as a Naval Memorial and Museum; and

WHEREAS, it is entirely fitting and proper that the site for the ending of the second World War should be located at the site of the beginning of

United States involvement in the war; and

WHEREAS, the American Legion, Department of Missouri, has urged the United States Navy to permanently locate the U.S.S. Missouri in Pearl Harbor, next to the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States, the President of the United States, the Joint Chief of Staff, United States Navy, and the Secretary of the Navy to take any appropriate action necessary to permanently locate the U.S.S. Missouri (BB-63) at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, Hawaii, next to the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial, for the purpose of serving as a Naval Memorial and Museum; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, for each member of the Missouri Congressional delegation, for the Joint Chief of Staff, United States Navy, for the Secretary of the Navy, and for the American Legion, Department of Missouri.

7. All information required to be filed under the provisions of this section with the commission shall be kept available by the administrative secretary of the commission at all times open to the public for inspection and copying for a reasonable fee for a period of five years from the date when such information was filed.

10. The prosecuting attorney of Cole County shall be reimbursed out of funds appropriated by the general assembly for investigations and prosecutions for violations of this section.

11. In addition to any penalty prescribed by law, any person convicted pursuant to section 105.478 shall not be permitted to register as a lobbyist or appear as a lobbyist before the general assembly or executive branch or any department, division or agency of the executive branch for a period of two years.

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAY--THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1996

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

President Wilson in the Chair.

The Chaplain offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, at the end of today's session we will go our own way for awhile. We pray that You will use this time to rekindle our spirit, refresh our minds and renew our resolve. Bring us back safely with a revived dedication to serve the people of our state. Amen.

---------	---------	-------	--------------

The Lieutenant Governor was present.

Senator Mathewson requested unanimous consent of the Senate that the effective date of Senate Rule 102 be delayed until Monday, March 25, 1996, stating that this rule change will require different reporting procedures than those now required by law and all of those affected by the rule need time to make the changes necessary to accommodate the rule. In addition, the strictness of the rule, and the potentially serious consequences of a violation of the rule, makes it necessary to review the monthly and semi-annual reports so that each member can avoid any violation. We now have no procedure in place to conduct such a review and are unsure how such a review could be implemented. Finally, the Senate must determine how it will enforce the rule when a violation occurs.

For all of these reasons, I request that the enforcement of Rule 102 be postponed for one week, which request was granted.

The commission shall base its decision to allow continuously docked excursion gambling boats on any of the following criteria: the docking location or the excursion cruise could cause danger to the boat's passengers, violate federal law or the law of another state, or cause disruption of interstate commerce or possible interference with railway or barge transportation. In addition, the commission shall consider economic feasibility or impact that would benefit land-based development and permanent job creation. The commission shall not discriminate among applicants for continuous docking excursion gambling that are similarly situated with respect to the criteria set forth in this section;

Such hearing may be held prior to any final action on licensing to assist an applicant and any city or county in the finalizing of their economic development plan;

Such disclosure shall be in writing and shall include who is employing such individual, that person's relationship to the elected or appointed official, and a job description for which the person is being employed. The general assembly hereby finds that it is important for the regional colleges and universities to be able to attract and retain the most qualified faculty and staff to enhance the educational, service and research responsibilities of the institutions, and that in order to attract and retain such employees, the institutions of higher education should have maximum flexibility to provide an alternative retirement program under which annuity contracts, either fixed or variable or a combination thereof, providing retirement and death benefits may be purchased for eligible employees of the system.

2. As used in sections 174.800 to 174.815, the term "institutions" shall mean Truman State University, Northwest Missouri State University, Southeast Missouri State University, Southwest Missouri State University, Central Missouri State University, Harris-Stowe State College, Lincoln University, Missouri Western State College, and Missouri Southern State College.

174.805. 1. The provisions of chapter 104, RSMo, to the contrary notwithstanding, each institution may establish an optional retirement program to the Missouri state employees' retirement system through which annuity contracts, either fixed or variable or a combination thereof, providing retirement and death benefits will be purchased for and become the property of the eligible employees of each institution. All full-time teaching and certain administrative personnel of each institution described in section 174.800 shall be eligible employees for purposes of participating in the optional retirement plan. Eligible administrative personnel shall be limited to those administrators who hold faculty-level appointments or who have policy-making responsibilities.

2. Each institution which chooses to establish an optional retirement program shall:

(1) Provide for the administration of the program;

(2) Designate at least two but not more than three companies to which payment of such contributions may be made, taking into consideration:

(a) The nature and extent of the rights and benefits to be provided by such contracts for electing employees and their beneficiaries;

(b) The relation of such rights and benefits to the amount of the contributions to be made pursuant to sections 174.800 to 174.815;

(c) The suitability of such rights and benefits to the needs and interests of electing employees and their employing institutions;

(d) The ability and experience of the designated companies in providing contracts meeting the criteria of paragraphs (a) through (e) of subdivision (2) of this subsection; and

(e) The efficacy of the contracts in the recruitment and retention of faculty and administrators.

174.807. 1. All eligible employees of the institution may elect to participate in the optional retirement program as of the date of their employment.

2. Elections to participate in the optional retirement program shall be made as follows:

(1) Eligible employees initially appointed on or after the effective date of the establishment of this optional retirement program shall elect, within sixty days after their employment commences:

(a) To join the Missouri state employees' retirement system in accordance with the provisions of chapter 104, RSMo; or

(b) To participate in the optional retirement program established pursuant to sections 174.800 to 174.815;

(2) Eligible employees who are members of the Missouri state employees' retirement system and who were initially appointed to an eligible position subsequent to the effective date of the establishment of the optional retirement program may elect to participate in the optional retirement program in lieu of remaining members of the Missouri state employees' retirement system. This election shall be in writing and must be filed with the institution no later than sixty days after the effective date of the appointment to any eligible position. The election shall constitute a waiver of all rights and benefits for employees who are not vested at the time they terminate participation in Missouri state employees' retirement system. Employees who are vested in the Missouri state employees' retirement system at the time they terminate participation shall not forfeit their vested benefits;

(3) Any member of the Missouri state employees' retirement system who is appointed subsequent to the effective date of this act to a position for which the optional retirement program is available may elect to participate in the optional retirement plan in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as provided in subdivision (2) of subsection 2 of this section, except that the election provided for subdivision (2) of subsection 2 of this section shall be made within sixty days of the effective date of the appointment to the eligible position.

3. An election pursuant to this subsection 2 of this section shall be:

(1) In writing and filed with the institution in the manner prescribed by the institution;

(2) Accompanied by an appropriate application, where required, for the issuance of a contract or contracts under the program; and

(3) Irrevocable as long as the person is employed in any eligible position by the institution.

4. Any eligible employee electing to participate in the optional retirement program shall be ineligible for membership in the Missouri state employees' retirement system. In the event an optional retirement program participant assumes a position in public service for which the optional retirement program is not available, or the optional retirement program is terminated at any time, participants shall be automatically enrolled in the Missouri state employees' retirement system from the date on which participation terminates in the optional retirement program and shall receive no service credit, except for vesting purposes, in the Missouri state employees' retirement system for the years in which they participated in the optional retirement program.

174.810. 1. The employer contribution rate shall equal seven percent of salary for each participating employee.

2. The employee contribution shall be three percent of salary and shall be made on a before-tax basis under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

3. Each employer shall continue to contribute to the unfunded liability of the Missouri state employees' retirement system. This amount designated for the unfunded liability shall be the same as the percentage of salary contribution for the unfunded liability for employees participating in the Missouri state employees' retirement system, but no greater than two and one-half percent. This amount shall be remitted to the Missouri state employees' retirement system and applied to the unfunded liability of that system.

4. Compensation shall include all salary and wages payable out of any state, federal, trust or other funds to an employee for personal services performed for a department, but shall not include any non-recurring single sum payments or amounts paid after the member's retirement.

5. Contributors to the optional retirement program shall be immediately vested.

174.812. No retirement, death or other benefit shall be paid by the state for services credited under the optional retirement program. Such benefits are payable to participants or their beneficiaries only by the designated companies in accordance with the terms of the contracts.

174.815. 1. As used in this section, the term "employee" shall mean as defined in section 104.010, RSMo.

2. No employee shall be eligible to claim or receive retirement benefits based on service as an employee of the state of Missouri, at the same time that the employee is employed full time by the state of Missouri.

3. The provisions of this section shall not affect the rights of any employee to claim or receive benefits payable by law to the employee as a surviving spouse or surviving dependent of any retiree who was previously employed by the state of Missouri.

4. The provisions of this section shall not affect the rights of any employee to become a member of, or claim or receive benefits from, two or more retirement systems provided by law to employees of the state of Missouri, provided that the employee has retired from employment with the state of Missouri prior to claiming or receiving benefits from any such retirement system."; and Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1024

WHEREAS, upon occasion the members of the Missouri Senate pause to offer moral support to an individual who has reached that point in life when any semblance of youth vanishes into thin air; and

WHEREAS, Kim Spieler of California, Missouri, recently experienced a traumatic mid-life crisis as he waved good-bye to forty years of carefree life and entered the initial stages of what can best be described as senior citizenship; and

WHEREAS, on that fateful day, March 2, 1996, Kim Spieler took a look in the mirror and saw an old man he did not recognize and did not want to recognize; and

WHEREAS, superannuated individuals like Kim Spieler eventually come to grips with their fate and let others gradually take over, as the staff at Spieler's will have to do, when Old Man Kim no longer has what it takes to be their leader as they sell those beautiful, luxurious Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge, Jeep, Eagle and GMC vehicles; and

WHEREAS, it is entirely fitting and proper for this legislative body to express sympathy to Kim's family - his lovely wife, Terry, our beloved Senate Secretary; his devoted children, Aaron and Abby; his parents, Dick and Jane; and his sisters, Cinda and Dana - for the tremendous burden they must accept in caring for their loved one in his old age:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Eighty-eighth General Assembly, join unanimously in commiserating with Kim and the entire Spieler clan at this moment of truth and in expressing hope that his friends at the California United Church of Christ will find compassion in their hearts to look after Kim and take care of him as he slowly slips into senility and oblivion; and

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4

WHEREAS, most all necessities essential to man's survival stem from the soil, and the survival and success of nations is largely dependent on their ability to manage the resources provided by the soils within their borders; and

WHEREAS, agriculture forms the basis for the development, maintenance, and survival of any modern society; and

WHEREAS, citizens must be able to relate to these truisms to their own success and welfare in order to assure a cooperative, conflict-free relationship between urban and rural communities; and

WHEREAS, it is important that the agricultural community be a proactive force in the education of the urbanite and those members of the rural population who are unfamiliar with the role of agriculture in the preservation of their welfare and that of the nation; and

WHEREAS, although Missouri is one of the most agriculturally diverse states in the nation, little has been done to educate its citizens as to their total dependence on farmers and ranchers; and

WHEREAS, since the third generation without exposure to the farm is now growing up in the state's urban areas, little comprehension exists among this group concerning the tie that exists between the remote farmer/rancher and the dinner table; and

WHEREAS, because of information provided by various activists/environmentalists which has often been inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, the farmer/rancher is often perceived as the enemy rather than the benefactor of mankind; and

WHEREAS, in order to correct these deficiencies in the public understanding and perception, a number of key leaders and organizations have voiced their support for the establishment of a combined Living History Farm and Agriculture Learning Center in Missouri; and

WHEREAS, this innovative Living History Farm and Agricultural Learning Center would be dedicated to the goal of educating consumers as to Missouri's wealth of agricultural products and the importance of these products in their everyday lives, and would also seek to preserve the skills, knowledge, and artifacts of previous generations of Missouri farmers and ranchers; and

WHEREAS, the proposed Agricultural Learning Center would be the most modern and effective in the nation, and would provide Missouri's forty-three commodity groups with the opportunity to tell their own story concerning the importance of their product; and

WHEREAS, the proposed Missouri Living History Farm and Agricultural Learning Center project has garnered a great deal of support and interest from both the private and public sectors, but still requires knowledgeable leadership to coordinate the efforts of these interested parties; and

WHEREAS, this leadership would best be provided by the Missouri Department of Agriculture, which has access to the largest body of knowledge and expertise pertaining to Missouri agriculture:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, hereby petition the Department of Agriculture to serve as the coordinating body for the initiation of the proposed Missouri Living History Farm and Agriculture Learning Center and in this capacity, form a study group to examine the value and feasibility of this project; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that in accepting this role, the Department of Agriculture be given full authority to call together all interested parties, to obtain firm commitments from these parties as to precisely what contributions and assistance they will provide toward the project's completion, and to then determine to what degree the project is workable; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that in serving as the coordinating body for the Missouri Living History and Agriculture Learning Center project, the Department of Agriculture determine project feasibility based upon the heretofore established plan which provides that the project be funded solely through non-governmental contributions; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Department of Agriculture report its findings together with recommendations for any action it deems appropriate to the Missouri General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for the Missouri Department of Agriculture, Mr. John Saunders, Director.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1103

WHEREAS, the United States of America was founded upon an individual's right to own property; and

WHEREAS, the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution guarantees that no person shall be deprived of "life, liberty or property without due process of law", and that "private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation"; and

WHEREAS, Article I, Section 10 of the Missouri Constitution states that "no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law"; and

WHEREAS, Article I, Section 26 of the Missouri Constitution states that "private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation"; and

WHEREAS, Article I, Section 28 of the Missouri Constitution states that within certain exceptions "private property shall not be taken for private use with or without compensation, unless by consent of owner"; and

WHEREAS, many citizens of the great State of Missouri were forced to sell their land to the United States government so that the Army Corps of Engineers could manage and channel rivers, create lakes, regulate wetlands and help provide electricity for the citizens of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the Army Corps of Engineers mandates that the citizens of the State of Missouri pay "user fees" to enjoy the many parks, lakes and other natural wonders and attractions created from land Missouri citizens were forced to sell;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Missouri Senate, 88th General Assembly, that although Missouri citizens were compensated for the loss of their properties, the Army Corps of Engineers should reevaluate and ultimately reduce or eliminate these unfair, arbitrary and excessive "user fees" which essentially force citizens of the State of Missouri to pay a fee to enjoy and use their own land; and

Senator Howard offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 26

WHEREAS, agriculture is an ever-changing and ever-expanding industry; and

WHEREAS, in order to survive and make a living in today's market environment, farmers must continue to expand the uses of their products and to find ways to enhance the competitiveness of their farms through the development of new agricultural products; and

WHEREAS, the production of industrial hemp could provide Missouri farmers an additional alternative product; and

WHEREAS, hemp was one of the first plants to be cultivated by humans, more than 12,000 years ago; and

WHEREAS, paper was invented using hemp in China more than 2,000 years ago; and

WHEREAS, hemp was widely grown as a cash crop in Colonial America and was even used to pay taxes. George Washington and Thomas Jefferson grew hemp, and it was turned into paper at a mill owned by Benjamin Franklin; and

WHEREAS, two of the most important documents in the history of the United States, the Constitution and Declaration of Independence, were drafted on hemp paper; and

WHEREAS, Rudolph Diesel designed his engine to run on hemp oil; and

WHEREAS, an acre of hemp produces four times as much paper as an acre of trees and produces an acid-free paper that lasts 1,500 years compared to wood-based paper's shelf-life of 25 to 100 years; and

WHEREAS, hemp is naturally pest and disease resistant and therefore grows without the use of pesticides or herbicides; and

WHEREAS, the roots of hemp penetrate the soil nine to 14 inches deep, bringing subsoil nutrients to the surface and protecting the soil from erosion; and

WHEREAS, hemp produces one of the strongest natural fibers and will produce 10 times more fiber per acre per year than a fully mature forest. It takes 300 years for a forest to grow while a hemp crop matures once a year; and

WHEREAS, the production of industrial hemp does not interfere with the regulation of controlled substances in Missouri since industrial hemp contains a very low THC (delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol) level and is harvested before reaching that low level. In addition, a permit is required from the federal drug enforcement agency before research can proceed; and

WHEREAS, the University of Missouri Research facility is one of the premier agricultural research facilities in the nation; and

WHEREAS, the development and use of industrial hemp could be in the best interests of the state economy and agriculture in that industrial hemp may be used for the manufacture of rope, sacks, batts, yarn, paper, composite materials, thread, cordage, cloth and other such products as may be made from the fiber or sterilized seed as have been or which may be developed;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri Senate of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that the University of Missouri be authorized to grow industrial hemp so as to conduct research on commercial uses for industrial hemp; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the University of Missouri submit an annual report of its findings to each successive General Assembly by January 1st; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare on hemp paper a properly inscribed copy of this Resolution for the Dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Missouri.

In determining the reasonableness of any budget estimate involving compensation, the judicial finance commission shall also consider compensation for county employees with similar duties, length of service and educational qualifications. The judicial finance commission shall immediately order a settlement conference to determine if the matter can be resolved before ordering briefs and oral argument. "99.430. 1. Preparation and approval of redevelopment and urban renewal plans shall be carried out within the following regulations:

(1) An authority shall not acquire real property for a land clearance or urban renewal project unless the governing body of the community in which the land clearance project area or urban renewal project area is located has approved the redevelopment or urban renewal plan, as prescribed in subdivision (9) of this section.

(2) An authority shall not prepare a redevelopment or an urban renewal plan for a land clearance or urban renewal project area unless the governing body of the community in which the area is located has declared, by resolution or ordinance, the area to be a blighted, or insanitary area in need of redevelopment or in need of rehabilitation.

(4) The authority itself may prepare or cause to be prepared a redevelopment or urban renewal plan or any person or agency, public or private, may submit such a plan to an authority. A redevelopment or urban renewal plan shall be sufficiently complete to indicate its relationship to definite local objectives as to appropriate land uses, improved traffic, public transportation, public utilities, recreational and community facilities and other public improvements and the

The planning agency shall submit its written recommendations with respect to the proposed redevelopment or urban renewal plan to the authority within thirty days after receipt of the plan for review. Upon receipt of the recommendations of the planning agency, or, if no recommendations are received within the thirty days, then without the recommendations, an authority may recommend the redevelopment or urban renewal plan to the governing body of the community for approval.

(6) Prior to recommending a redevelopment or urban renewal plan to the governing body for approval, an authority shall consider whether the proposed land uses and building requirements in the land clearance or urban renewal project area are designed with the general purpose of accomplishing, in conformance with the general plan, a coordinated, adjusted and harmonious development of the community and its environs which, in accordance with present and future needs, will promote health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity and the general welfare, as well as efficiency and economy in the process of development; including, among other things, adequate provision for traffic, vehicular parking, the promotion of safety from fire, panic and other dangers, adequate provision for light and air, the promotion of the healthful and convenient distribution of population, the provision of adequate transportation, water, sewerage, and other public utilities, schools, parks, recreational and community facilities and other public requirements, the promotion of sound design and arrangement, the wise and efficient expenditure of public funds, the prevention of the recurrence of insanitary or unsafe dwelling accommodations, or insanitary areas, or conditions of blight or deterioration, and the provision of adequate, safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations.

(8) The governing body of the community shall hold a public hearing on any redevelopment or urban renewal plan or substantial modification thereof recommended by the authority, after public notice thereof by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the community once each week for [two] three consecutive weeks, the last publication to be at least ten days prior to the date set for hearing. The governing body shall also post a notice at the main entrance to any commercial building, at the entrance to any residential street, and in other public areas within the area covered by the plan. The notices shall be posted at least 15 days prior to the hearing. The notice shall describe the time, date, place and purpose of the hearing and shall also generally identify the area to be covered by the plan. All interested parties shall be afforded at the public hearing a reasonable opportunity to express their views respecting the proposed redevelopment or urban renewal plan.

(9) Following the hearing, the governing body may approve a redevelopment or urban renewal plan if it finds that the plan is feasible and in conformity with the general plan for the development of the community as a whole. A redevelopment or urban renewal plan which has not been approved by the governing body when recommended by the authority may be recommended again to it with any modifications deemed advisable.

(10) A redevelopment or urban renewal plan may be modified at any time by the authority, provided that, if modified after the lease or sale of real property in the land clearance or urban renewal project area, the modification must be consented to by the redeveloper of the real property or his successor, or their successors in interest affected by the proposed modification. Where the proposed modification will substantially change the redevelopment or urban renewal plan as previously approved by the governing body, the modification must similarly be approved by the governing body.

2. As an alternative to the procedures prescribed in subdivisions (2) and (5) of subsection 1, an authority may find an area to be a blighted, insanitary or undeveloped area in need of redevelopment or rehabilitation, and simultaneously prepare a plan, or adopt a plan presented to the authority, and the authority may simultaneously recommend its finding of a blighted, insanitary or undeveloped area and the approval of a plan to the governing body of the community, and the governing body may make its finding that the area is blighted, insanitary or undeveloped and approve the plan simultaneously. Simultaneously with such recommendation of a finding of a blighted or insanitary or undeveloped industrial area and recommendation of a plan to the governing body for approval, an authority shall submit the finding of a blighted or insanitary or undeveloped area and the plan to the planning agency, if any, of the community in which the project area is located for review and recommendation as to the conformity of the plan to the general plan for the development of the community as a whole. The planning agency shall submit its written recommendations with respect to the finding of a blighted or insanitary or undeveloped industrial area and the plan to the authority and the local governing body within thirty days after receipt of the findings and the plan for review. Upon receipt of the recommendations of the planning agency, or, if no recommendations are received within the thirty days, then without the recommendations, the governing body may simultaneously approve the finding of a blighted or insanitary or undeveloped area and approve the plan in the manner prescribed in subdivisions (8) and (9) of subsection 1."; and

WHEREAS, the legalization and regulation of gambling within the several states has long been recognized as a matter within the exclusive province and expertise of the state under the police powers of the individual sovereign state in establishing public policy and specific restrictions and limitations on gaming activities; and

WHEREAS, the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act of 1988 and other federal statutes explicitly provide that the laws, and therefore, the public policy of the several states respecting gambling must be recognized in the federal authorization of and the tribal operation of Class III gaming establishment in Indian country; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Constitution generally prohibits conducting lotteries and gift enterprises, including casino-styled games of chance, in the State of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the two narrow exceptions to this general prohibition, to allow creation of the Missouri Lottery and to allow casino-styled games of chance only on riverboats operating on the Missouri River or the Mississippi River, were passed by a vote of the people only after several failed attempts and only upon representations that these gaming operations would be strictly regulated, that revenue from these gaming operations would be earmarked to fund education, and that casino-styled games of chance would be prohibited in any city or county unless first approved by a separate vote of the people in that city or county; and

WHEREAS, in response to the wishes of the people and concern that gaming operations may be susceptible to corruption and illegal activity and therefore must be closely regulated, the Missouri Legislature and the Missouri Gaming Commission (the "Commission") enacted the strictest statutes and rule in the United States regulating gaming operations; and

WHEREAS, these statutes and rules provide that casino-styled games of chance are allowed only after licensure by the Commission, a process that includes investigating the applicant prior to licensure in order to review the application which must contain a full financial disclosure by each applicant, to determine the identity of all individuals with a financial interest in the proposed gaming operation, and to conduct a criminal background check on all individuals with a financial interest in the proposed gaming operation along with all employees of the proposed gaming operation; and

WHEREAS, once a gaming operation is licensed, it is under the supervision of and subject to investigation by the Commission regarding any alleged violations of games statutes and rules; and

WHEREAS, a member of the Missouri Highway Patrol is present on each gaming boat in Missouri whenever gaming activities are being conducted in order to assure that operations are conducted in accordance with the law, which provides that the sale and service of liquor on gaming boats be strictly regulated, that the purchase and ownership of gaming equipment be regulated and monitored, and that the licensee may be penalized for any environmental damage it causes during its gaming operations; and

WHEREAS, the people of the State of Missouri have demonstrated their continued moral objection to casino-styled games of chance by voting to create only a narrow exception to the Constitutional prohibition on casino-styled games of chance on riverboats based on the belief that these gambling operations would fund education, would be strictly regulated and would not be forced on any city or county without local approval by election; and

WHEREAS, casino-styled games of chance operated by an Indian Tribe on land located in the State of Missouri that is taken into trust by the federal government would constitute land-based gaming operations; and

WHEREAS, casino-styled games of chance operated by an Indian Tribe on land located in Missouri that is taken into trust by the federal government would not be subject to Missouri statutes and rules regulating gaming; and

WHEREAS, no revenue from casino-styled games of chance operated by an Indian Tribe on land located in the State of Missouri and taken into trust by the federal government would go to the state to further state programs such as education; and

WHEREAS, casino-styled games of chance could be operated on land located in the State of Missouri that is taken into trust by the federal government without a local option election to verify that the gaming operation is favored by a majority of the voters in the city or county where the land is located; and

WHEREAS, the federal prohibition against taxing motor fuel sold on tribal land, the removal of large tracts of land from the local tax base and other exceptions from taxation that apply to tribal land could make the taking of land into trust for gaming purposes detrimental to the economic interests of other distributors of motor fuel, state and local government, and local businesses in Missouri

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Missouri House of Representatives of the Second Regular Session of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, hereby indicates its opposition to the taking of Missouri land into trust for gaming purposes and the operation of land-based gaming by Indian Tribes in the State of Missouri on any land that may be taken into trust by the federal government where such operations are not subject to the strictest regulation, do not provide a direct financial benefit to the state, and do not recognize the right of local residents to vote regarding the appropriateness of such a gaming operation as expressed by the people of Missouri: and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Missouri General Assembly further urges the Missouri Attorney General to use any legal remedies which are available to him and which he believes are proper and prudent in opposing the taking of Missouri land into trust for gaming purposes and the operation of land-based casino-styled games of chance on any land that may be taken into trust by the federal government under the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act of 1988 and other federal statutes that are contrary to the provisions of this resolution

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

Also,

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House refused to adopt the conference committee report on HCS for SS for SB 687, as amended, and requests further conference on HCS for SS for SB 687, as amended.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 28

WHEREAS, the United States has long supported a just peace in Northern Ireland, one that can only be achieved with a settlement that protects the civil rights of all parties; and

WHEREAS, a cornerstone of United States immigration policy is reuniting families, and preferences are given to immediate family members seeking admission into the United States; and

WHEREAS, the United States has maintained a proud heritage that has centered around the ideals of liberty and support for international human rights, and has expressly condemned governments for their failure to help families reunite; and

WHEREAS, separating a person from loved ones causes great anguish for all those involved; and

WHEREAS, Matt Morrison sought refuge in the United States after having served his sentence as prescribed by the British Courts, and subsequently found sanctuary in this country, established a fine family, and made this great land his home; and

WHEREAS, Matt Morrison has worked, paid taxes, obeyed laws, and lived peaceably in the St. Louis area for the past ten years; and

WHEREAS, the Immigration and Naturalization Service has pending deportation proceedings against Matt Morrison, who is not wanted by the British Courts for a crime, and who is not suspected of a crime in the United States of America or in the United Kingdom; and

WHEREAS, these proceedings have provoked great controversy and criticism within Ireland and Great Britain and have been criticized by human rights organizations worldwide; and

WHEREAS, Matt Morrison's wife, Francie, and their two children are citizens of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, the deportation of Matt Morrison would disrupt his family and separate him from his spouse and his American-born children in a manner that is repugnant to principles of United States Immigration policy and the oft-stated declarations of this nation; and

WHEREAS, many mentally-ill citizens in the St. Louis area would suffer directly if Matt's wife, Francie, who serves as Director of Places For People, is forced to leave this country; and

WHEREAS, Matt Morrison, his loving wife, Francie, and his two children, Matthew and Mary Kate, are united in their desire to keep the family intact, and the citizens of the City of St. Louis along with many friends and loved ones share this desire:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby join the Board of Aldermen of the City of St. Louis in calling upon the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service to stay the deportation proceedings against Matt Morrison, who has served sentence for offenses stemming from the conflict in Northern Ireland, and to permit Mr. Morrison to remain in the United States with his family; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service.

3. Any person who is not state-licensed or state-certified under this chapter may assist a state-licensed or state-certified real estate appraiser in the performance of an appraisal provided that such person is personally supervised by a state-licensed or state-certified appraiser and provided further that any appraisal report rendered in connection with the appraisal is reviewed and signed by the state-licensed or state-certified real estate appraiser.

[(8)] "General certificate" or "general certification" means a certificate or certification issued pursuant to the provisions of sections 339.500 to 339.545 for appraisals of all types of real estate;

(9)] (13) "License" or "licensure" means a license or licensure issued pursuant to the provisions of this act [for appraisals of residential real property of one to four single-family dwelling units and other real estate including real estate used in the production of farm products, with a value of less than one million dollars, unless the nature or the size and complexity of the appraisal require a state certified real estate appraiser as determined by the commission or federal law] evidencing that the person named therein has satisfied the requirements for licensure as a state-licensed real estate appraiser and bearing a license number assigned by the commission;

A residential unit in a condominium, town house, or cooperative complex or planned unit development is considered to be residential real estate. Subdivisions are not considered residential real estate. Individual parcels of property located within a residential subdivision shall be considered residential property;

[(12) "Residential certificate" or "residential certification" means a certificate or certification issued pursuant to the provisions of sections 339.500 to 339.545 for appraisals of residential real property of one to four single-family dwelling units and other real estate including real estate used in the production of farm products, unless the nature or the size and complexity of the appraisal require a state certified general real estate appraiser as determined by the commission or federal law;

[(13)] (19) "Specialized appraisal services" means appraisal services which do not fall within the definition of appraisal assignment. The term "specialized services" may include valuation work and analysis work. Regardless of the intention of the client or employer, if the appraiser is acting as a disinterested third party in rendering an unbiased analysis, opinion or conclusion, the work is classified as an appraisal assignment and not specialized services;

[(14)] (20) "State certified general real estate appraiser" means a person who holds a current, valid certificate [issued to him for either residential or other real estate appraisal] as a state-certified general real estate appraiser issued under the provisions of sections 339.500 to 339.545;

We are thankful for these great people. Without You Lord, none of this would be possible. We are thankful. Amen.
